TO SUPPORT PRESIDENT.

Belief That Senate Committee Will Report Bill He Recommends.

Washington, Nov. 21.-Divergent views developed at a conference of Republican members of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce to-day. The conference followed a regular meeting of the committee in the afternoon and was sitended by six of the eight Republican members. Senators Clapp and Millard were not present, the former being out of the city and the latter going away after the formal meeting of the ommittee. Of the six members attending the conference Senators Elkins, Aldrich, Kean and Feraker showed themselves nearly in accord on one side and Senators Cullom and Dolliver on

No propositions were advanced, but the four Senators in the first group mentioned indicated their desire for harmonious action of not too radical legislation. Senators Cullom and Dolliver insisted that the only way to have harmonious Republicar action was for all the Republicans to get in line with the President and support his recommendations.

The other Senators suggested that the proposition of the President had not been crystallized sufficiently to determine just what he wanted.

No measure was presented by any Senators embodying their views, although it is known that several measures have been drafted. After the conference adjourned some members of the committee expressed the opinion that a bill committee expressed the opinion that a bill would be agreed upon, but the confident opinion was also expressed that the majority of the full committee would report a bill in line with the recommendations of the President.

Previous to the conference the committee held a meeting attended by Senators Elkins, Cullom, Aldrich, Kean, Doiliver, Foraker and Miliard, Republicans, and Senators Tillman, Foster and Newlands, Democrats. Besides Clapp, Republican, the other absentees were McLaurin and Carmack, Democrats. The formal meeting of the committee was devoted to informal discuswas devoted to informal discussien, and an adjournment was taken until to-

The meeting of the committee, two weeks in advance of the assembling of Congress, is to advance of the assembling of Congress, is to consider the testimony taken last spring and also the additional data which has been gathered by experts since the committee ceased its hearings. This data was prepared by H. C. Adams, statistician of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and H. T. Newcomb, attorney and railway statistician. The former represented the interstate Commerce Commission and the latter railway interests. They agreed upon the data submitted, also upon a brief of the testimony which they have prepared for the use of the committee. This brief is not yet complete, but much of the important testimony taken last spring has been epitomized.

"NO NATIONAL CONTROL."

Dr. Rogers Against Judge Grosscup on Corporation Law.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

New-Haven, Conn., Nov. 21.-Dr. Henry Wade Rogers, dean of the Yale Law School and expresident of Northwestern University, takes strong issue with Judge Peter S, Grosscup, of Chicago, on the latter's argument in the December "American Illustrated Magazine" for a national corporation law. Professor Rogers said in an interview here to-day:

In an interview here to-day:

The problem of the corporation is a very serious and perplexing one. Corporations, as they are being managed in this country, are, in my opinion, a distinct menace. They have done more than any other one agency to corrupt the political life of the country, and the economic questions which they give rise to are certainly very serious in their nature.

That corporations are a necessity, in the industrial age in which we live, may be conceded. Few thoughtful men will deny that proposition. It will also be conceded that they must be regulated and controlled. No thoughtful man will deny that. The question, then, is whether the control shall be left with the States or whether the national government shall deal with them.

the national government shall deal with them. Judge Grosscup thinks there should be a national incorporation law. I have no doubt that Congress has the constitutional right, in the exercise of its power over interstate commerce, to pass a national corporation law, applicable to pass a mational corporation law, applicable to all corporations which propose to engage in in-terstate commerce. I once thought that I should like to see such a law enacted. Weighty argu-ments can be presented in favor of such a law. But my views have changed, and I am not yet ready for it. I dread any further concentration of power in the national government. I think that that way lies danger. I am of the conviction that the President has now all the power it is wise to confer upon him, and I should deem it upwise to give him the right to give him the right. unwise to give him the right to supervise the corporations, and to give the corporations of this country added reasons for desiring to dictate who shall be nominated and elected to the office of President, or any added reasons for desiring to control the Congress. I think the political pendulum has swung too far already in the direction of a centralized government.

But the time is certainly at hand when the people should put en end in every State where it exists—and it exists in a number—to the corrections. porate control over State legislatures; and laws should be enacted, not as the corporations de-mand, but as the real interests of the Common-

The story of breaking the bank is a myth. I have been making a study of the game for three years, from a mathematical point of view. I believe I have solved the problem. I made it a business proposition pure and simple, and played according to my deductions. My scheme is a winner, My capital was small but I never lost. Sir Hiram Maxim's ideas are overshadowed by mine, and, during my eight weeks, playing daily, I discovered that if a man follows the game as a strictly business proposition, and follows my deductions he can stay as long as he likes. I do not care to state the amount of my winnings, but they do not reach the high figures.

AGAINST WATER PLANS.

Adoption of Amendment Not End. of City's Fight.

Albany, Nov. 21.-The semi-official announcement of the adoption by the voters at the recent election of the constitutional amendment permitting the city of New-York to make expenditures for addi-tional sources of water supply without interfering with the limitations of its bonded indebtedness has seen followed promptly by a call for a special meeting of the State Water Supply Commission in Al-bany next Friday morning. It had been supposed that no serious objection would be raised to the proposed plan to expend $160,000,000 for extending the waterworks system of New-York City into the the waterworks system of New-York City into the Catskill region, but it is learned that a number of protests have been received by the State Water Supply Commission.

The most significant of these comes from the Chamber of Commerce of Kingston, N. Y., which opposes the plans of New-York City on the ground that they are not justified by public necessity, ar, not equitable to the other municipalities and civil divisions of the State and do not make proper provision for the payment of damages, direct and indirect. At the public hearing which the State board is to give on the q-siton at Kingston on Monday the plans will be opposed by Judge A. T. Chearwater and S. D. Coykendall, of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, as well as by a number namber of Commerce, as well as by a number others from other parts of the State.

SYMPATHY FOR SLAIN MISSIONARIES.

Presbyterian Board Does Not Expect Further Trouble in China.

The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in this city issued another statement vesterday, relative to the killing of five Presbyterian missionaries in Lien-Chou, in October. It exhorts relatives of ports of barbarities committed, as it says, "Press reports are very apt to be exaggerated." Now that the Chinese and United States government any further trouble, according to its statement. In a letter to the board from Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese Minister to the United States, against the noises of the Chinese festival, which led to the attack upon them by the natives, and their murder, is defended in the statement:

It would not be at all to the discredit of Dr. Machle if it should prove true that he took rdvantage of his property rights to protest against a festival platform on which there were the firing of cannon, the exploding of fire crackers and the strident music and other distracting noises incident to a Chiese religious festival. Such a runnit would be highly injurious to the many patients that were crowding the two hospitals in the premises, to say nothing of the discomfort and possible danger to the missionary families from the excited and posthe missionary families, from the excited and pos-sibly half intoxicated crowd.

IGNORES POOL'S TESTIMONY.

Jury Gives Verdict to Magistrate's Opponent in Suit Against Trust Company.

Though Magistrate Pool testified as a witness be fore Justice Seabury, in the Supreme Court yesterday, the jury ignored his testimony, and gave the decision to his opponent, Charles T. Haviland, Rob-ert A. R. Dobbyns had brought suit against the Columbia Trust Company to recover $1,600 for services rendered by Haviland in 1893. The claims had been assigned by Dobbyns to Haviland. The original charter of the trust company was

The original charter of the trust company was owned by "Boss" Tweed in 1871. It was then called the Mutual, Life, Policy, Loan and Trust Company. It has since changed hands and titles to the Commercial Trust Company, the New-York and London Trust Company, and to its present name.

In 1893 Evan W. Thomas had the charter. He tried to sell it, and to convince a purchuser he got Charles T. Haviland to report on the company. The report covered fifty typewriten pages, for which Haviland's fee was $2,500.1 166 was unable to collect the amount, so reduced the fee to $1,000. This amount he also falled to collect, so he made the assignment to Dobbyns, who brought suit for the amount.

Colonel Alexander S. Bacon is interested in the case. Magistrate Pool took the stand, and swore, so Bacon says, that Haviland told nim he would do the job for $100. When the case went to the jury it remained out of court for one minute and decided in favor of Haviland.

It became known yesterday in military circles in Brooklyn that there was a shooting affair late on Monday night in the rifle range of the 47th Regiment Armory, Marcy-ave, and Heyward-st., Willlamsburg.

Arthur C. Judson, a private in Company K, living at No. 1.004 Putnam-ave., was the victim. He was shot in the back of the head, right behind the was shot in the back of the head, right behind the left ear, by Lieutenant J. B. G. Dickinson, of Company E, same regiment. Both men, with other officers, were engaged in target practice with revolvers. Judson was at the rear end of the butts, It was not until after Lieutenant Dickinson had fired the first shot of the evening and a loud cry of pain was heard that it was discovered that Judson had fallen with a wound in his head.

It was found that Judson had a nifraculous escape from instant death, the bullet being found in the hatband of his hat. The force of the impact had broken the scalp and left a deep gash. An investigation was ordered.

VEGETABLE JUICE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

The newspapers announce that all the prominent physicians of New York have received a circular from the New York Post Graduate Hospital giving an account of the wonderful cures of consumption through the use of the juice of raw vegetables and fruits. It seems that the treatment began by the use of potatoes, onions, beets, turnips, cabbages and celery. Later there were added sweet potatoes, apples, pineapples, carrots and parsnips, and still later rhubarb, summer squash, tomatoes, spinach, radishes, string beans and green peas, in the pod.

It would seem to be absurd on its face that such treatment could be used to effectually combat consumption, vet so high an authority as Dr. Russell of the above named hospital, who seems to have made the discovery and developed the treatment, states that eleven cases of well developed pulmonary tuberculosis have been absolutely cured, while fifty others are under treatment and progressing satisfactorily.

It is to be hoped that the long looked for cure of this dread disease has at last been found in this treatment, but the medical profession will doubtless be sceptical, as they are and should be on all new treatments until more than eleven cases have been cured by a combination of simple vegeable juices that contain little, if iny, of the nourishment required by the consumptive. As Dr. Russell says he has been the principal advocate of nutrition as opposed to medicine in the treatment of tuberculosis, he seems to contravert his own theory in the use of these vegetable juices that possess such a small percentage of nutrition.

Hygiene and nutrition of the best sort are absolute requisites in the treatment of consumption. If the laws of health are carefully observed and the body wholesome, easily digested food, the ravages of the disease may tissue is involved. There is little question that the best nutrition in the world in such cases is the old and much abused cod liver oil: not in its raw state but in the form best adapted for its immediate absorption into the body, as found in Scott's Emulsion of pure Norwegian cod liver oil which contains, in addition, the valuable hypophosphites of lime and soda and glycerine. We hesitate to say that it will cure consumption, but after thirty years' experience with it, the medical profession knows that it will arrest the progress of the disease and in its earlier Transit Company, the Canarsie Landing will be developed into a pleasure resort. The scheme is to run elevated trains direct from the East Side of this city across the Williamsburg Bridge, up Broadway and then on the surface tracks along Vestave, to Canarsie. comparative clinical test in any hospital or sanitarium where there are patients afflicted with this malady. If it will not cure more cases of consumption, if the same rules are observed. than the vegetable and fruit juice treatment, we will agree to supply the institution making the test with Scott's Emulsion free for a year. There is no doubt that Scott's Emulsion is the most concentrated form of nutrition in existence, and if consumption can be cured at all it will do it.
